

Wisdom, Wise

Albert Einstein said, "...To know that what is impenetrable to us really exists, manifesting itself as the highest wisdom and the most radiant beauty..."

An inner wisdom usually can be depended on to guide the psyche into the paths that it needs to follow.

Changes in human consciousness would make it possible for us to use the fruits of modern science constructively and with wisdom.

During mystical experiences, one can feel that one has access to ultimate knowledge and wisdom in matters of cosmic relevance.

Every cell in your body is acutely conscious and has access to wisdom which dwarfs the mental, prefrontal symbolic aspect that you consider normal waking consciousness.

Few people can tap universal wisdom and pass it on to others. But, deep inside, each person possesses this wisdom.

In this state of cosmic unity, we feel that we have direct, immediate and unlimited access to knowledge and wisdom of universal significance.

In this state of knowledge of God, the mind is enlightened from out of the depths of divine wisdom which defy our scrutiny.

It does exist and there is an intelligence and there is a planfulness and a wisdom and power that you can tune in to.

Man is only dimly aware of the energies and wisdom surrounding and radiating through him.

People have an untapped potential of great love and wisdom which is too often neglected in trying to satisfy the imperious power demands of the ego.

Psychedelic substances have been used very wisely in primitive cultures. Our culture doesn't have this framework, the closeness to God and nature.

The DNA code is a miniaturized time-capsule of consciousness, the invisible essence-wisdom of life.

The great religious and spiritual traditions all teach that the source of wisdom lives within us.

The most vital human need is to discover one's own inner reality. This makes it possible to draw on the enormous resources and wisdom of ages that lie in the collective psyche.

The subject in this state feels that he has access to direct insightful knowledge and wisdom about matters of fundamental and universal significance.

The virtue of wisdom, more than anything else, contains a divine element which always remains.

The West knows all about machines and fails to realize that all the wisdom has come from the East.

The wisdom for change and healing comes from the collective unconscious and surpasses by far the knowledge that is intellectually available to the therapist.

The wisdom of sages is not in their teachings; otherwise anybody might become a sage simply by reading.

The wise person devotes his life to the religious search, for therein is found the only ecstasy, the only meaning.

There is a realm of spiritual wisdom which religion as we know it can express by analogy only.

To reach a translogical form of knowledge or realms of wisdom, celestial beauty, and spiritual essence is one of the most ancient experiential goals of mankind.

To think of God as mere Power and not also, at the same time, as Power, Love and Wisdom, comes quite naturally to the ordinary, unregenerate human mind.

Transpersonal psychology brings together the ancient wisdom and spiritual systems of the world and the pragmatism of Western science.

Truth must be the last end of the whole universe and the consideration thereof must be the chief occupation of wisdom.

Unless the statesmen of mighty nations somehow absorb this wisdom, then civilization will become a shambles. (That's assuming that it isn't already a shambles.)

We all need to find the source of wisdom in our own inner experience and then join together to share it with each other.

When there is understanding, there is an experienced fusion of the Wisdom which is the timeless realization of Suchness with the Compassion which is Wisdom in action.

Wisdom becomes available when we see things as they are. Our task is to remove the obstacles to awareness that limit and distort perception.

Wisdom comes only to those who have learned how to talk, read and write without taking language more seriously than it deserves.

Action without wisdom, without clear awareness of the world as it really is, can never improve anything. It could be argued that those who sit quietly and do nothing are making one of the best possible contributions to a world in turmoil.

Artistic and literary folks respond ecstatically and wisely to drug experience. They tell us this is what they have been looking for: new, intense, direct confrontation with the world about them.

Intellectual growth often shows that we were wiser than we knew, especially in the sense that mythological images foreshadowed ideas which, at the time of their origin, could not be expressed in some more exact or scientific symbolism.

Knowledge is a collection of facts and information. Knowledge is something which comes from without. Wisdom is the ability to use those facts and the information for the meaningful purposes of life. Wisdom comes from within.

Need the cortex be limited to the tribal-verbal? Must we use only a fraction of our neurological heritage? Must our minds remain flimsy toys compared to the wisdom within the neural network?

People who have had such experiences usually agree that deep within each of us lie goodness unimagined, wisdom, music, talents of every variety, joy, peace, humility, love and spirituality, to mention only a few.

Science and technology has given us wonders but wisdom is languishing. Knowledge grows and wisdom languishes. (Knowledge here means what the ego “knows,” not real knowledge or wisdom.)

The DNA code is a 3 billion year old time capsule of consciousness. The DNA code is the miniaturized, invisible essence wisdom of life. Most of the characteristics formerly attributed to the “soul” describe the functions of DNA.

The human mind-body possesses other sources of information, makes use of other types of reasoning, is gifted with an intrinsic wisdom that is independent of cultural conditioning.

The LSD experience is a confrontation with new forms of wisdom and energy that dwarf and humiliate man’s mind. This experience of awe and revelation is often described as religious.

The scientist of consciousness must have courage, take the drug himself, the courage that comes from faith in your body, cells, the life process, conscious faith in the harmony and wisdom of nature.

The wise man has penetrated through the verbal curtain, seen and known and felt the life process. The great writer is the wise man who feels compelled to translate the message into words.

To some people, looking only at the surface, the sequence of events of my first psychedelic experience might seem to border on madness; others will see it in a profound logic and wisdom.

We are in need of a kind of philosophy or vision, an intellectual grasp of its nature and recognition of its value, so that the psychedelic experience may be incorporated into our lives as wisdom.

We cannot just talk about spirituality; it needs to be an experiential realization. Enlightenment does not come simply from following the wisdom teachings. It comes through direct experience.

Wisdom, in contrast to knowledge gathered by empirical or rational investigation, is an attribute of one who, by virtue of inner vision, understands the nature of illusion and duality.

Wise men throughout history have told us again and again, in legends and myths, aphorisms, poems and allegories that there exists within us a source of direct information about reality that can teach us all we need to know.

Let us try to bring about a new and glowing synthesis, a new higher consciousness that brings together the East and West, the head and the heart, science and spirituality and knowledge and wisdom. (Knowledge here means what the ego “knows,” which isn’t wisdom.)

The training for this new profession of psychedelic guides will aim at producing the patience of a first-grade teacher, the humility and wisdom of a Hindu guru, the loving dedication of a minister-priest, the sensitivity of a poet and the imagination of a science fiction writer.

You’ve never seen a cell. What do you think of that? Yet it’s the key to everything that happens to a living creature. I’m simply saying the same thing from the mental, psychological standpoint, that there are wisdoms, lawful units inside the nervous system, invisible to the symbolic mind, which determine almost everything.

We were convinced that drug effects were almost entirely determined by what people around the tripper did. If the environment radiated safety, beauty, wisdom, then even neurotic subjects would have experiences that were safe, aesthetic and revelatory. The theory held that all “bad trips” could be converted to “good trips” if the environment was intelligently managed to provide support. (That was Timothy Leary.)

Adventurous and creative people have always been willing and have usually been encouraged to take the most serious risks in the exploration of the outer world and in the development of scientific and technological skill. Many young people now feel that the time has come to explore the inner world and are willing to take the unfamiliar risks which it involves. They, too, should be encouraged and assisted with all the wisdom at our disposal.

By intuitive wisdom, he sees into the nature of reality.

Contact the ancient energies and wisdoms that are built into your nervous system.

Find the wisdom within.

Find the wisdom within yourself.

For many, the discoveries mean new truth and wisdom.

From the conscious mind comes intellect; from the unconscious, wisdom.

Give a slight hint to a wise man and he will derive greater wisdom from it.

If he has any solitude, it is the solitude which inevitably attaches itself to great wisdom.

Leary has consolidated ancient psychic wisdoms and cast them in modern-day terms.

LSD is perfectly in tune with the wisdom of Buddha or the great philosophers of the past.

Must our minds remain flimsy toys compared to the wisdom within the neural network?

Mystical teachings all agree that the source of wisdom is within.

Only paradise could teach such wisdom.

Playfulness is the very nature of divine Wisdom.

Recognize the wisdom.

The genetic code is infinite in its variation and wisdom.

The LSD experience puts you in touch with the wisdom of your body.

The man of deep spiritual wisdom, like the artist, is looked at as irrelevant to this society.

The mind's pure Essence is Highest Perfect Wisdom.
The only way out is in and the way to find the wisdom is to turn on.
The wisdom of the East is not physical, but psychic and spiritual Science.
There are other realities more conducive to ecstasy, happiness, wisdom.
This is the ultimate luxury, the flawless wisdom-pleasure hit.
Trust in the wisdom and spontaneous healing potential of the psyche.
Trust the intrinsic wisdom of the body.
We are gifted with an intrinsic wisdom that is independent of cultural conditioning.
We need to contact the universal Self within our hearts in order to find the wisdom.
Wisdom can only be transmitted by someone prepared to receive it.
Wisdom is spontaneous.
Wisdom is the spontaneous immediate knowledge of the Suchness of things.
Wisdom takes Science in its stride and goes a stage further.

There came a knowing beyond all doubting, convictions unshakable in their strength, as if LSD had pulled back a curtain and allowed the light of wisdom to shine through.

He had a twinkle in his eye and a wise, cool way of looking at you that told you he was a man who had seen a lot and suffered a lot and was still looking for the funniest and wisest part of everyone he came in contact with.

This recognition of the immortality of the divine in ourselves was not an intellectual process but rather a deep wisdom which had expressed itself through feelings so intense, I expect to remember them throughout life.

This was the chamber of the unconscious where lay recorded all our past experiences and feelings, race history, universal wisdom, such power and strength and the depths and mysteries of life itself.

I had, on that day, entered William Blake's Palace of Wisdom. He had been there, too. And, I was to learn later, so had many others. And so can you. It's our birthright. We are all supposed to dwell in the mansion at the top of the hill. It's our ultimate destiny. It's cosmic consciousness. Nirvana. Satori.

I'd given up even trying to talk. I just smiled at everything that was said to me, and nodded my head up and down as the words went by. I felt beautiful and saw nothing but beauty. I was a little child being led and protected by two wise saints. On the perfect path to all-the-way-up now. Awake, finally, and headed for truth.

It seemed as though the refreshing breath of some kind goddess of wisdom were being gently blown against the surface of my brain...So delicate, so crisp and exhilarating was it that words fail me in my attempt to describe it. Few, if any, experiences can be more delightful...For me, this experience was liberation.

Now I could hear, as if for the first time, the depth of the wisdom in their teachings and in the mystical doctrines of all ages and all cultures. As I sought for words to express my own ineffable experience I gained a new appreciation for those individuals who had attempted to communicate their own insights in writing or art. I also became interested in understanding intuitive ways of knowing.

When I realized that I was being born again, that life goes on and on and on, the feeling was overwhelming. I was filled with confidence that it was okay to die, because the consciousness that inhabits the flesh has a higher destiny. It never began and it won't end. It just keeps going. Then I was struck with wave after wave of value wisdom, as though the forms behind human spirituality were hitting me for the first time.

Deep within was the thirst for a greater knowing of the ancient Wisdom.
Her face was that of all women, wise, beautiful, eternal. Her eyes were all female eyes.
His eyes expressed great wisdom.
She was tapping genuine levels of cosmic wisdom.
This wisdom was of a mystical nature.
Unrecognized sources of wisdom did seem to be set free by the drug.

deeply and uniquely within themselves at a depth to illuminate them with a cosmic wisdom enlightenment, full awareness of that blissful Reality whose attributes include inconceivable wisdom, compassion, light, beauty, energy and gaiety

Huxley's Brave New World—the gap between technology and wisdom, the failure of education to create a whole man intensification of color and sound, euphoria, sense of having discovered some great wisdom

LSD, its eerie power to release ancient, wise, at times even holy sources of energy, inside the human brain that ancient current of passionate hope and risky belief that humanity can evolve into a higher wisdom that childlike wisdom which must be learned again before one may enter the kingdom of heaven

the absurd or dangerous nonsense that within every culture, passes for philosophy, practical wisdom and political argument

the ego and the power of conscious reason nothing but cumbersome clowns in comparison with the organic wisdom of the body the electric dance of energy, the wisdom of your electricity, radiant, dazzling wave energy the idea of launching a new discipline that would combine science and spirituality and incorporate the perennial wisdom concerning various levels and states of consciousness

the need to acknowledge the wisdom of ancient and Oriental spiritual disciplines and assimilate it into psychology and psychiatry to seriously review ancient and non-Western knowledge about consciousness and to aim for a genuine synthesis of age-old wisdom and modern science to use marijuana and LSD to get beyond the TV studio, to enhance creativity, as catalysts to deepen wisdom and meaning the Primordial Tradition: an age-old wisdom of humanity, neglected only where modern science and secularism rule, its truths revealed to the interior eye in altered states of consciousness and now, finally, in natural science itself as it reaches its limits and begins to glimpse something beyond a mystical intuitive wisdom inherent in visionary states of consciousness

a perfect state of wise Buddha-being a true Wisdom Culture (That is definitely what we need.)

a very deep wisdom

attaining tranquility of mind, realization, insight and Wisdom can reveal lost wisdom

can see female guide as a Goddess or the personification of wisdom, truth or beauty

cellular wisdom

discover beauty and wisdom and God

divine wisdom

drugs—catalysts to deepen wisdom, enhance creativity enhancement of wisdom

eternal wisdom

genetic wisdom

genuine wisdom

immovable wisdom

insight produced by chemicals the source of higher wisdom and creativity

inspired wisdom

instinctual wisdom

intuitive wisdom

must look within to find access to that universal source of wisdom

new realms of consciousness, the elixir of wisdom

our own innate wisdom

re-entry, coming back down, a wiser more peaceful personality

religious wisdom

sensations of transcendent beauty and divine wisdom silent wisdom

the all-discriminating wisdom of feeling boundless light representing life eternal

the collective unconscious and the wisdom of untold ages that lie dormant in it the constant attribution of a mysterious wisdom to antiquity

the cosmic wisdom of the collective unconscious

the deep wisdom within you the elixir of wisdom

the experience of such totally comprehensive wisdom

the flowering of wisdom

the gentle spirit of that ancient wisdom

the harmony and wisdom of nature

the harmony of wisdom and indeed wisdom in harmony

the healing wisdom of the transformative process

the hidden wisdom

the hidden wisdom in the unconscious

the highest wisdom, the ultimate truth

the innate and natural “wisdom” of the organism

the intuitive wisdom which sees into the relational character of everything the levels of energy and wisdom inside the love of wisdom, in the spirit of the artist

the Mother Wisdom of light and true clarity the new “wisdom drugs” which were responsible for an emerging spirituality the perennial wisdom of the great traditions the profound wisdom of the great spiritual philosophies and mystical traditions the release of this innate wisdom and creative energy in people the royal road to wisdom, the highway of evolution the spirit of truth, a spirit of wisdom
the state of pearly wisdom
the sword of discriminating wisdom that cuts through all illusion
the timeless wisdom
the wisdom and superior reality of internal perceptions the wisdom embedded in the metaphors of mysticism the wisdom of creative quietism the wisdom of the Other Shore the Wisdom of the spiritual process the wisdom of the world’s oldest religion and healing art, shamanism
the wisdom of unreason
the wisdom which is universal compassion
the Wise Fool or King’s Jester to grow into wisdom to unveil the mysteries of the universe, to seek that ultimate wisdom true wisdom vegetative wisdom
what is “recovered” in mystical wisdom by deep insight what they reveal of the complexity and wisdom of the human mind at its best will enter into the blissful abode of noble wisdom “wisdom for crossing to the other side” (Break on through to the other side.)
wise, smiling saints